GLMP Ltd. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Family Life Book 1, Lyn Mattson, Graham Lawler, "Family Life" is a series of worksheets suited to young adult literacy students who are ready to build confidence in their use of language. The resource is also suitable for ESOL students at an elementary level. The reading level suggested for successful outcomes with this resource is 11-14 years old. The units of work revolve around the domestic activities of the Marshall family: Mum, Dad, three children, pets, neighbours and relatives. Much of the targeted vocabulary will be recognised by the student, but may not be used in the student's own speech. Although there are reading and writing tasks, the objective is to increase students' word knowledge and their spoken language ability using this resource. A vocabulary list is given at the beginning of each unit of work. A variety of words from different parts of speech are targeted. This is a deliberate strategy to encourage students to move away from simple naming and labelling activities to more complex language use. From each list, students should circle or underline any words they already know and can use correctly. The teacher may want to create dialogue with the student to check correct usage. At the end of the unit this type of oral exercise should be repeated, this time asking the student to use words that they were not previously familiar with. If, at the end of a unit, the student is unable to use a targeted word correctly, she/he may be directed back to the script and language tasks to work through again. It is envisaged that because of the domestic nature of the scenarios, the student will be able to personalise the situation and use the word in relation to something familiar from his...
