Excerpt: .built on its foundation, and which will soon be completed. The model of this cathedral, due to the distinguished architect, M. Lenormand, won a diploma and a silver medal at the Universal Exhibition of 1878. It is conceived in the French Renaissance style. The same architect is also building another church at Monaco, to be dedicated to St. Charles, which will be as rich in ornamentation as the cathedral, though built in the Roman style. Four narrow streets, commencing from the Palace Square, traverse the old town. Here the antiquarian will find some curious antique doorways, and the artist may contemplate the effects of light and shade where the arch frontage of the houses screen the shops built back away from the road and the sunbeams. Facing the Palace is the guard-house, and a short street to the right leads to the government offices, to...
